Sachi A. Hamai, Executive Officer-

Supervisor Burke made the following statement:

“The Board of Supervisors traditionally proclaims January as Cervical Cancer Awareness Month to draw attention to the many activities planned throughout Los Angeles County to focus attention on the importance of the early detection and prevention of cervical cancer.

“The latest data shows that 472 women in Los Angeles County were diagnosed with cervical cancer in 2004 and 141 women died of it - unnecessarily because cervical cancer is a preventable disease.

“Although many strides have been made and the incidence and mortality of cervical cancer is decreasing, certain populations such as low-income women and women of color remain at high risk. With the FDA approval of the first vaccine against the Human Papillomavirus or HPV, there is an effective new weapon in our fight against this disease. However, since the HPV vaccine will prevent only 70% of cervical cancers, it is still important that women receive an annual Pap test.

“To increase the number of underserved women screened, the Office of Women’s Health provides access to free Pap testing for low-income women who call 1-800 793-8090, a multi-lingual hotline. No woman should die from this preventable disease.”
